

Terry Walters Speaking Bio

Terry Walters is a lot of things: he's been married to Carolyn the love of his life for over 40 years, he's a father of two, a professional speaker, coach and consultant. He's held positions in mid-management and the high-tech manufacturing industry for over 25 years, and he concurrently served as a senior pastor for over 2 decades. For more than 12 years, Terry was a full-time speaker and traveled to more than 25 states and he held over 400 meetings. But this wasn't always the case.

Terry and his wife Carolyn experienced the "perfect storm" of cumulative loss and grief, and know first-hand about the feelings of loneliness, disillusionment and the powerlessness that it can bring. Their profound journey of overcoming these life-altering events gives them a genuine and direct approach to transcending life's adversities and setbacks. Since then Terry has gone on to hold a position in a Fortune 500 Company for more than 10 years, he's more than doubled his income, and presently owns and operates his own business.

Now he speaks, coaches, and consults individuals, businesses and ministries on how they can triumph through adversity and transitions, unlock their potential and accelerate their growth.
